

Counseling Office Cuts Test Fee

University Students Offered Vocational Tests and Counsel

• AT REDUCED FEES, a complete counseling and testing service will be offered to non-veteran students of the University, Dr. E. W. Davis, Director of the University Guidance Center, informed The Hatchet last week.

Free to veterans having Certificates of Eligibility, the Center has been limited since 1945 to veterans from the District, Virginia, and Maryland, under a Veterans Administration program.

The service now has been extended to all persons in the Washington area at the full cost of $20, and to University students at a reduced rate.

Included in the program of the Center are the following services: selecting a vocational and educational objective; evaluating suitability of chosen career, including follow-up; diagnosis of academic difficulties; diagnosis and counseling on personal problems; employment counseling; imparting details on occupational and educational information; psychological testing with over 70 different tests; and a library of occupational and educational information.

Complete counseling service usually takes from one-half to one day.

In addition, the staff of four counselors and four psychometrists is prepared to offer services to schools or other groups for group or achievement batteries, at a lower rate per person.

Located in the basement of Stockton Hall, the Guidance Center maintains regular office hours daily from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. and on Saturdays from 9:00 a.m. to noon. Appointments may be scheduled during these hours.

Red Cross Drive Ends Saturday

• PI BETA PHI sorority was leading all organizations in amount of funds collected for the Red Cross as the current drive reached the halfway point, according to an announcement by Sybella Clayton, Red Cross director for the University.

Representatives of sororities and fraternities and of Strong and Staughton Halls will continue to solicit contributions in the Student Club at 12:15 and 5:45 p.m. daily until the end of the campaign on Saturday. In addition, donations from faculty and staff members are being received by Virginia Kirkbride's office in Columbian House.

Life Magazine Illustrates Freeman, Watts Operation

• FURTHERANCE of the gigantic task of curing sick minds by the surgeon's blade is vividly depicted in the March 3 issue of Life Magazine. As Life points out, this dramatic step into mental therapy was originated in the United States in 1936 by two nationally known doctors, Neurologist Walter Freeman and Neurosurgeon James W. Watts, both of the University School of Medicine.

The surgical treatment of psychoses, called prefrontal lobotomy, is an operation in which surgeons cut the tissues of the brain itself to relieve disorders of the mind. It removes, at least for a while, the patient's ability to translate insane emotions into acts,

National Symphony To Play for Students

• A SPECIAL concert for students will be presented by the National Symphony Orchestra next Monday afternoon at Lisner Auditorium. There is no admission charge, and students are requested to present their activity cards.

The concert will last from 3:00 until 4:00 p. m. Vincent De Angelis, auditorium manager, requests that all students attending be seated by 2:55.

Drama Essay Prize Open To Students

• MAY 1 has been set aside as the deadline in the annual competition for the Croissant award, Dr. Fred Tupper, of the English Department, has announced.

Subject of essays for the competition should concern drama, and should be not less than 1,000, and not more than 10,000 words long. Competition is open to all University students.

Dr. Tupper said that compositions should be submitted to him, or to Professor Shephard, also of the English Department. They should not be signed with the author's real name, but with a pseudonym. An envelope with the pen name on the outside and the author's real name on the inside should be turned in with the essay.

The Croissant award of thirty dollars was founded by the late Dr. Henry Croissant, who provided for the funds in his will. Announcement of the winner will be made on Senior Class Night.

Research Theses Publication Names Ragatz As Editor

• APPOINTMENT of Dr. J. Lowell Ragatz, professor of European History at the University, as the new editor of an American Historical Association publication has recently been announced.

This annual publication lists all doctoral theses currently being prepared in the United States and Canada. Since the Ph.D. is awarded only for original research, this avoids duplication of effort, and subsequent failure to receive the degree.

Another object of the publication, said Dr. Ragatz, is to show trends in research, as for instance, the growing interest in events leading up to the first and second World Wars, and in Slavic history.

The volume, which is scheduled to be released July 1, will list about one thousand research projects now in hand.

hence makes him easier to care for.

In a book, "Psychosurgery," jointly written by Drs. Freeman and Watts, a detailed history of the frontal lobe operation is given and the technique is described so that it can be followed by any competent surgeon.

University Holds Spring Prom At Statler Hotel This Saturday

• IRENE MARTIN (right) Social Chairman of the Student Council, and Dorothy Pittenger publicize the All-U Spring Prom with the appropriate tulip motif which has appeared on all parts of the campus recently. Tickets for the dance to be held in the Presidential Room at the Hotel Statler are on sale at $2.40 per couple in the Student Club this week and in the Hall of Government evenings from 4:00 to 6:00 p.m.

Freshmen Follies of '47 Plays Friday in Lisner Auditorium

• "TWO PUFFS AND A FLASH," featuring Juanita Duvall, Barbara Armstrong, and Carol Stout, will open the "Freshmen Follies of 1947" directed by Jim Speaks, Friday night at 8:15 p.m. in Lisner Auditorium. Friends will be contributed to the University Hospital fund.

Tickets for the production, at fifty cents per person, will be sold each day this week at the Student Club from noon to 1:00 p.m., by students on campus wearing Freshmen Follies badges, and may be purchased at the auditorium Friday evening.

Featured in the twelve-act variety show will be a dozen freshmen lovelies modeling the latest in evening gowns, cocktail dresses, and suits from Pon Tello, Inc. The fashion parade will be climaxed by "Zigeuner" sung by Betty King.

Among the twelve numbers in the review will be a male quartet, accompanied by Bill Harwood and his orchestra, singing "A Pretty Girl is Like a Melody."

Music for the production is arranged and conducted by Bill Harwood, costumes are designed and executed by Milton Smith. Settings were done by Fred James.

The cast also includes Molly Cochrane, Archie Harrison, Jim Spaulding, Ann Bradshaw, Eugene Babb, Barbara Quigley, Mildred McDowell, Margie Bragunier, Ann Penningroth, Jo Ann Walsh, Elsa Glass, Dick Randall, Merritt De La Mater, Dick Hedges, Bill Thomas, Betty King, and a mixed chorus.

The twelve models, selected from organizations on campus, are Ann Coste, Mary Ellen Allison, Virginia Teeter, Frances Carriques, Martie Barnaby, Dorothy Southerland, Shirley Matchett, Bobby Fenderson, Jean Minear, Ann Diffenderfer, Gloria Bernstein and Betty King.

Square Dance Group Meets Thursday

• SQUARE DANCE group will hold its next dancing meeting Thursday from 8:00 to 10:30 p. m. in Building J.

Miss Elizabeth Burtner will teach the dances while Rosemary Glenn, Pat Ludwig, and Joe Schenck will call.

All students are invited to this meeting, said Irene Martin, business manager.

Bartlett Discusses British Psychology

• PSYCHOLOGY STUDENTS of the University heard Dr. Frederick Charles Bartlett, distinguished British psychologist, speak last night on "War Services of British Psychologists."

Dr. Bartlett spoke under the auspices of the University and the District of Columbia Psychological Association to Washington and Baltimore psychologists and psychology students.

Professor of experimental psychology and director of the Psychological Laboratory at Cambridge University, Cambridge, England, Dr. Bartlett was engaged during World War II in the application of psychology in the Royal Air Force and in the Submarine Service of the British Navy.

Dr. Bartlett is editor of the "British Journal of Psychology" and author of a number of books including "Remembering: An Experimental and Social Study," "The Problem of Noise," "The Study of Society," and "Political Propaganda." He is a fellow of the Royal Society of England.

The Speaker was introduced by Dr. Walter V. Bingham, War Department consultant in personnel research.

Council Approves Elections Committee

• A NEW STUDENT Council Election Committee to govern the forthcoming election was approved unanimously by the Student Council at its last meeting.

Advocate Larry Woodward, who nominated the committee, said he hoped it would have the rules ready to present to the Council at its next meeting.

The Elections Committee consists of Janet Doidge, Dick Mahoney, Charles Plyer, Bill Warner, Beverly Berry, Barbara Leslie, Bill Shepard, and Joan Garwood.

• TICKETS FOR the annual All-University Spring Prom to be held at the Hotel Statler Saturday are on sale today in the Student Club.

Tickets will also be sold by the Junior Class from 4:00 to 8:00 p.m. in the Hall of Government for the benefit of evening students, according to Maryanna Dotson, president of the class. The tickets cost $2.40 per couple.

The semi-formal dance will be held in the Presidential Room of the Statler from 10:00 p.m. until 1:00 a.m. Music by the Glenn Forest and Ray Payne University All-Vets band features Rusty Schiff, Jack Regan and Pete Kouzes as vocalists, Irene Martin, social chairman of the Student Council, said.

All University organizations which have not yet turned in banners for decoration should contact Miss Martin at Strong Hall.

Another feature will be the Vet-o-links, a student trio including Jody Miller, Bill Bailey, and Pete Kouzes, who will entertain during intermission. Omicron Delta Kappa, national men's honorary, will tap new members at this time.

Last year's All-U Prom featured a name band, Orrin Tucker's, but this year the policy has been changed. This was done, Miss Martin explained, because the Council feels that the high price of such an orchestra makes the cost of tickets prohibitive to many of the University students.

The committee for the dance included Tommy Gleason, Barbara Soranson, Betty Weitzel, Janet Doidge, and Jack Bowen.

Discussion Group To Attend Mock UNESCO Confab

• THE CURRENT Affairs Club will venture into the intercollegiate field when it sends a delegation to a conference dealing with "The Reduction of Immigration Barriers" to be held at Mt. St. Agnes College, Baltimore, Maryland, on March 22.

Chief delegate from the club is Collin Hughes. Advisors on the delegation are Ming Chen and Lew Hoffacker.

The conference is designed as a dramatization of the United Nations Economic and Social Council, with each college delegation acting as spokesman for an individual country. The University delegation will discuss the relationship of China to the problem.

Participating universities and colleges in the area are Loyola, Maryland, Georgetown, American, Catholic, Notre Dame of Baltimore, Immaculata, Goucher, Mt. St. Agnes, Visitation, Mt. St. Joseph, Trinity, and the University.

Students interested in attending the conference are asked to contact Collin Hughes at Lincoln 0116 to make reservations on the special bus, which will leave the campus at 8:30 a.m. and will return at 5:30 p.m. Round-trip fare is $1.50.

Wilgus Journeys With Ambassador

How Interesting!

• IT WAS WITH surprise and chagrin that the Board of Editors learned last week that Dr. Marvin's library has been put on sale by public auction in New York City.

Announcement of this was made in the New York Times of March 2. To our knowledge, no information regarding the sale appeared in any Washington newspaper.

To us it appears rather striking that Dr. Marvin has sold his library shortly before the twentieth anniversary of his presidency here. For a number of years it has been generally anticipated (and certainly reasonably so) that the collection would be donated to our own very needy library—one which a good number of the faculty and most of the student body condemn as hopelessly inadequate. Dr. Marvin's books would have added a beautiful pearl to the collection now on hand at the library.

This is another to add to that long list of rhetorical questions.

Foundation Stone

• CONFIRMATION of the eagerness of the students of this University to develop potential leadership in campus organizations has been demonstrated amply by the enthusiastic response to the Leadership Conference sponsored by Tassels during the past four weeks.

Organized last fall as a major project of Mortar Board with the purpose of developing potential sophomore women leadership, Tassels realized the dire need for affording student leaders and potential leaders an opportunity to meet each other, discuss mutual problems, and discover methods of improving student leadership. Thus, the timely advent of the Leadership Conference has provided a solution.

The story is an old one. Drained of capable leadership during the war, organizations, in order to maintain an active status, were forced to carry on in a haphazard manner, pathetically understaffed. Semi-qualified students were given important posts; freshmen and sophomores stepped into positions previously filled by juniors and seniors; reports and files were neglected; and rules were dangerously relaxed. Thorough training for a responsible position became a forgotten factor.

Judging from the attendance and lively discussions at each session, we can surmise only that this year's student body is desirous of reviving the elevated pre-war standards.

The phases important in building organizations, the sophomore hon-unusual ability in the planning program.

It'd be given where it is due, commendation for a sound, conducted program.

'Ladies in Hades'

• IT IS NOT a little difficult to review a production when one is unable to determine the standards by which it should be judged. Since "Ladies in Hades," presented last week by Cue and Curtain, is that group's first original production, one could logically review it as an ordinary college production making allowances for shortcomings.

But since Cue and Curtain evidently is anxious to attain the reputation which comes with polished, professional-appearing theatre, we shall proceed accordingly.

Mr. Spark's idea for a musical based on the Faust legend was a good one. The book which resulted from this inspiration is not. The dialogue is wordy, the humor is feeble, and the plot construction leaves a good deal to be desired. The entire first act is consumed in getting the principals to hell. Their shenanigans there which result in the request that they be returned to earth are covered by a couple of brief scenes, and are reported by hearsay. Then we find ourselves back in Mr. Faust's ballroom and the house lights are on. Somehow it doesn't add up.

The music which Mr. Bishop composed for the show is on the whole quite pleasant. A couple of the eighteen numbers are rather memorable, and the entire score shows a splendid talent—one which should be put to more extensive use. His music for "Temptation Ballet" is certainly an inspired piece of work, and is the musical highlight of "Ladies in Hades."

Peter Kouzes in the lead role of Robert Faust appeared to be trying hard. His lines made sense most of the time, and his singing was lusty enough to be heard.

Priscilla Hart, playing opposite Mr. Kouzes, was adequate as Marguerite. Her voice is undeniably the finest in the show. Her stance and her carriage bore out a lack of stage experience. Miss Hart, like Mr. Kouzes, gets an A for effort. Unfortunately, the gowns she wore made her look more like a frumpy matron than an attractive ingenue.

Paul Cantor as Valentine Smythe was properly hammy. He displays a good patter style; and vaudeville has been dead long enough for one to enjoy Mr. Cantor's antics.

Jody Miller, playing Martha, dressed nicely, looked attractive, and sang torchily. Her well-delivered lines exhibited a facility for the off-hand, other-world manner which seems so essential to good musical comedy.

Bill McClellan, playing Mephistopheles, saved several scenes with his very fine emoting. His numbers were effectively done.

Highlight of the show was the "Temptation Ballet" presented by members of Orchestis, under the direction of Elizabeth Burtner. The ballet showed fine imagination and clever interpretation. Tom Pence seemed to know what he was doing.

There are numerous other aspects of the show which could be mentioned, but since none are particularly outstanding we shall pass them by.

Correction

• IN A RECENT editorial regarding The Grind, proposed campus humor magazine, it was stated that Dr. Linton of the Publications Committee had, in speaking with the editors of The Grind, explained that only two humor magazines, Punch in England and Judge in the United States, had been permanently successful. The Hatchet was in error in attributing this to Dr. Linton. It was President Marvin who made the statement.

Letter to the Editors

Dear Ed:

• TO REFRESH the memories of the editorial staff of The Hatchet, and to call the attention of the student body to a problem of great interest to them, may I quote from recent issues of The Hatchet regarding the proposed increase in activities fee:

Nov. 21, 1946, "It will not be forced on the students. It will come only if an overwhelming majority of the students want it."

Dec. 3, 1946, "—this will come about only if the majority of the student body shows, by a vote, that it wants this fee."

Dec. 10, 1946, "The student committee feels that the vote of the three thousand students comprising the membership of organizations on campus will serve as a fair test of student opinion on campus. If the wishes of this group are not acted upon, then the committee has decided to throw the vote open to the entire student body." (Note—The form of organizational voting was by petition with the following heading, "A Vote for the Fee Means a Vote for the Student." The student was asked to place his name and vote below this pointed reminder.)

Feb. 18, 1947, "The results of this contact work have been especially encouraging, for without a doubt the opinions voiced by students and organizations have been overwhelmingly in favor of the activity fee."

As has happened too often at GWU the students as a whole are being issued another bill of goods, regardless of their wishes and without consulting them. It must be remembered that most students at the University do not belong to any campus organization. The new fee is a good idea if the majority of the students want to have it. How about having this promised vote in order to find out?

I am a member of a few organizations on campus, so am not a fair representative of the majority of the students, but I feel the only logical procedure is to find out once and for all what most of the students do want by having a vote of the entire student body. How can anyone claim to express 'overwhelming' opinions of a student body of 11,000 persons when the opinions were not given by the entire student body, but only by select groups?

All students who feel a proper vote should be taken on this issue, send me a post-card discussing your views and I will try to present your case to the Student Council (no names to be mentioned). Better yet, come in person to the next meeting.

Bill Rockwood.

Have You Met—

Dorothy Jean Eggeling

• MOST TEXANS HAVE a reputation for being soft-spoken, but active, and Dorothy Jean Eggeling, from Austin, is no exception.

A senior, Dottie Jean (or D. J. as she is called by those who think they can get away with it) has been more active than conspicuous in all of her university life. A scholarship student from Eastern, her grades have merited her election to Phi Beta Kappa in her junior year and to Alpha Lambda Delta, in which she serves as treasurer.

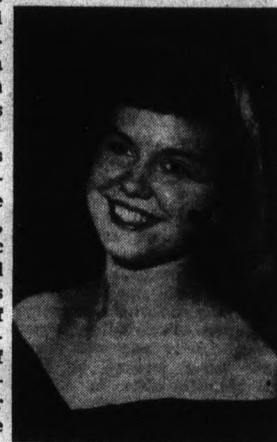

Her other activities have included membership in the Glee Club, Big Sisters, COGS, Pan Hellenic Council, Delphi, and Delta Zeta. She has served as co-director of COGS, and vice-president and president of Delta Zeta. Since being elected to Mortar Board last spring, she has served as its secretary. She was elected to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities last fall.

A major in psychology, Dottie Jean hopes to do graduate work for an M.A., and then, possibly, to enter the field of clinical psychology.

One of her hobbies is music, and she can often be found in the Delta Zeta rooms playing the piano or directing the girls while they sing.

She says she has few strong dislikes, chief one being the hour-and-a-half ride to and from her home in Cheverly. Dottie Jean tells us she goes for apples and open fire places.

Last summer she satisfied her urge to travel and got the biggest thrill of her college career when she went to Minnesota as the delegate to the Delta Zeta convention. As soon as she returned from this trip, she was off again with her family, who drove home to Texas.

Veterans' Legal Chief Opens Career Meeting

• "WOMEN ON THE VERGE OF SUCCESS" was the subject of the main address, delivered by Mary Agnes Brown, chief of the Veterans Administration Legal Projects Division, at the Mortar Board Career Conference held last night in the Hall of Government.

At a meeting in which members of the University of Maryland Mortar Board and Mortar Board alumnae living in the District were special guests, Miss Brown, an alumna of the University, spoke to women students on their careers.

A native of Washington, Miss Brown was one of the first students of the University to receive the doctor of juridical science when the degree was established in 1942. She had previously been awarded the A. B. and LL.B. at the University.

For 22 years Miss Brown has been with the Veterans Administration. She was also a lieutenant colonel in the Army for three years and was awarded the Legion of Merit while serving as Wac staff director in the Pacific.

After the main address, the conference broke into special sessions and each student attended the session of most interest to her.

Career fields and the speakers who discussed them included Administrative Management by Alice Wakefield, examining and placement division, Civil Service Commission; Government Service, Arnyess Joy Wickens, Bureau of Statistics, Department of Labor; Home Economics, Elinor Lee, director of women's activities, WTOP; Journalism, Doris Fleeson, Washington columnist, Evening Star; Medicine, Dr. Elizabeth M. Ramsay, guest investigator, Carnegie Institution of Washington, Department of Embryology.

Psychology, Helen Ruth Haggerty, bureau of Naval personnel, Navy Department; Radio, Hazel Markel, community service and education, WTOP; Science, Helen M. Dyer, National Cancer Institute, Public Health Service; Social Service, Olive Stone, Bureau of Public assistance, Federal Security Agency; and Teaching, Marion DeFries Hall, of the District public schools.

Members of Mortar Board who introduced the speakers included Lois Lord, Gertrude McNabb, Vivian Burke, Dorothy Jean Eggeling and Alma Jean Tolian.

Art Major To Discuss Rubens Work at Gallery

• TODAY AND SATURDAY at 12:30 p.m., Charleen Holly, art major at the University, will present a criticism of Rubens' "Apollo et Pan" at the Corcoran Gallery of Art.

These are two talks in a series being given by the art majors of the University under the guidance of Mrs. Amy Briggs, lecturer at the gallery. Each of the talks is preceded by extensive research on the painter and painting by the volunteer speaker.

Criticisms have been given by Dorothy Stamper, who spoke on "Madonna, Child, and St. John," by Carracci, and Mary Renner, who discussed Perugino's "Madonna Saints, and Angels." In April Doris Herick will comment on Rousseau's "After the Rain."

Sample Council Meeting Ends Tassels Series

• A SAMPLE meeting by the Student Council concluded the four Leadership Conference meetings sponsored by Tassels, women's sophomore honorary and subsidiary of Mortar Board.

The meeting, held last Wednesday evening in the Hall of Government, featured the Student Council in an actual meeting at which business was conducted.

President Larry Strickland explained that since the council is very small and the individual members study the work coming under their jurisdiction, the meetings are rather informal.

Following the Council Meeting, Ann MacMillen, assistant to the director of Women's Activities, summarized the four meetings of the Leadership Conference Series. Because of the large number of inquiries regarding activities, she is maintaining a calendar of all school activities, Miss MacMillen said.

Seniors Get Questionnaire On Activities

• BECAUSE OF THE CONFLICT of classes, activities, and work schedules of most seniors which make a class meeting difficult, a questionnaire is being prepared which will enable seniors to signify their preferences in regard to class activities, President James Pughe of the senior class has announced.

Questionnaire forms will be available in Virginia Kirkbride's office, second floor of Columbian House. Pughe requested that they be filled out as soon as possible so that results may be tabulated and further action taken in complying with the suggestions of the class.

The questionnaire will poll the seniors on whether or not they desire class rings. Arrangements will be made with a jeweler for a showing, so that those desiring rings can decide on the style of ring they want and place orders.

Additional questions will obtain opinions on senior prom, class banquet, gift to the University, class dues, class will, and class night.

Davis Public Speaking Contest Offers Prizes

• ISAAC DAVIS PRIZE in Public Speaking, established in 1847, and the oldest award in the University, will be awarded on April 30, the Speech Department announced Saturday.

First prize is $15, second prize is $10, and third prize is $10. Seniors who are candidates for the bachelor of arts or the bachelor of science degrees are eligible. Speeches should be ten minutes in length and on any informative or persuasive subject, preferably one of current political, social, or economic interest.

Entrants should report to Dr. L. P. Leggett in the office of the Speech Department in Lisner Auditorium not later than April 9, and should submit prepared manuscripts of their speeches to the office not later than April 30.

The Prize in Public Speaking was established 100 years ago by the Hon. Isaac Davis of Massachusetts who created a fund for annual awards to be given to "such members of the senior class as shall have made the greatest progress in elocution since their connection with the college."

Among the former University students who have won this prize are the late Theodore Noyes, editor of the Evening Star; Dean William Van Vleck (1908); Harryman Dorsey of the law school (1929), and Dean Elmer Kayser (1917) for his speech entitled "The Position of the Supreme Court in Our Constitutional System."

Dr. Marvin Auctions Books in New York

• AN ANNOUNCEMENT of the sale by public auction of the library of President Cloyd Heck Marvin was made last week through the New York Times.

Appearing on Page 62 of the March 2 issue, the story read as follows:

"The Library of Cloyd H. Marvin, president of George Washington University, will be auctioned tomorrow at the Parke-Bernet Galleries, 30 East Fifty-seventh Street.

"Conspicuous in the collection are many histories of various countries and their literary and constitutional developments. There are also books on religion and biographies of explorers, artists, writers and adventures, books on art and sets of standard authors."

The remainder of the article described objet d'art offered by other collectors. The story appeared under the headline, "Educator's Books Listed for Auction—C. H. Marvin Library Among Objects to be Offered in Galleries This Week."

petent surgeon. They present their theories as to the reasons for the results and include careful case history of the patients.

Drs. Freeman and Watts stress the fact that few doctors deny the potential value of the prefrontal lobotomy operation. This was strengthened recently when the Veterans Administration sent questionnaires to 200 leading surgeons and of the 75 that had performed the operation, all except one accepted its immense value wholeheartedly.

Drs. Freeman and Watts also pointed out that owing to the many mental cases among former servicemen, the Veterans Administration is becoming increasingly interested in the operation.

Dr. Watts, a native of Lynchburg, Virginia, emphasized its future importance and said that "the operation will be useful for a long time to come."

He is a graduate of the Virginia Military Institute and the University of Virginia School of Medicine.

Dr. Freeman is from Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, and has been on the University Staff since 1924. He is a graduate of Yale University and the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine.

• ARCH HARRISON, who will present a comedy skit in the "Freshman Follies," pauses outside Lisner Auditorium after a rehearsal of his act to consider changing the paradoxical title, "In the Good Old Summer Time," to something a little more befitting to the season.

• "TWO PUFFS AND A FLASH," Barbara Armstrong, Carol Stout, and Juanita Duvall, will open the "Freshman Follies" with a trio bit as two cigarette girls and a photographer bantering some witty original words to a drum tempo supplied by the skin man in Bill Harward's orchestra. They could sell us a pack of butts or snap our photo in any of the local niteries.

• BETTY KING, who will sing the popular semi-classic "Zigeuner," in the "Freshman Follies" and will double in one of the show's outstanding numbers, "A Pretty Girl Is Like A Melody" in which a bevy of campus beauties will model gowns from several exclusive Connecticut Avenue shops.

Cigarette Shortage
Still Acute

Crowds Queue Up... Millions
Try Different Brands... Smoke
Whatever They Can Get.

EXPERIENCE TAUGHT MILLIONS THE DIFFERENCES IN CIGARETTE QUALITY!

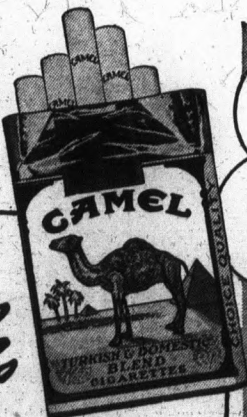

IT'S ONLY a memory now, the war cigarette shortage. But it was during that shortage that people found themselves comparing brands whether they intended to or not.

And millions more people found that the rich, full flavor of Camel's superb blend of choice tobaccos suited their Taste to a "T." And that their Throats welcomed the kind of cool mildness Camels deliver.

Thus the demand for Camels grew so great that today more people are smoking Camels than ever before. But, no matter how great the demand, this you can be sure of:

We don't tamper with Camel quality. Only choice tobaccos, properly aged, and blended in the time-honored Camel way, are used in Camels.

Your 'T-ZONE'
will tell you...
T FOR TASTE...
T FOR THROAT...
That's your proving ground for any cigarette. See if Camels don't suit your 'T-ZONE'
to a 'T'

R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., Winston-Salem, N. C.

According to a recent Nationwide survey:

More Doctors
Smoke Camels
than any other cigarette

When three independent research organizations asked 115,597 doctors—
What cigarette do you smoke, Doctor?—the brand named most was Camel!

University Athletes Triumph

• UNIVERSITY women monopolized their annual sports day Saturday as they outplayed their rivals from Goucher College and Hood College in two of three sports, while falling short in another.

The Women's Athletic Association played the hostesses to their opponents, and members from each school were sent to participate in basketball competition, held in the University gymnasium, badminton, held at the YWCA, and bowling matches, which took place at the YMCA.

The teams from Goucher were feted at a luncheon by the University players, while Hood athletes were given a dinner, at which they were entertained by various members of the Association.

Wiggins, Kephart, and Anderson led the University hoopsters to their victories, Massey starred for the badminton team, while Harvey and McDowell were high scorers for the bowlers.

Complete results follow.

Marksmen Lose

• THE UNIVERSITY rifle team fell below the .500 mark once again, when they fell victims to the sensational shooting of Maryland University's sharpshooters Saturday 1386-1338.

Gridmen Start Preparations For Season

• COACH Neil J. "Skip" Stahley, led a host of football players into their first spring practice of 1947, after weeks of postponement on account of bad weather conditions.

Except for the loss of two top linemen in Hank Augiesewicz and Ed Gustafson, the Colonials are pretty well-stocked in the line. Stahley is still murmuring fervent prayers for some fast backs, the acquisition of which will make the team one to reckon with.

Leading the parade of footballers were Carl Butkas, Harvey Shipman, Johnny Grinnel, Dick Koester, John Sanders and Tony Danowski, all linemen. Backs included Joe Buell, Johnny Shullenbarger, Hank Bartelloni, Bill Spangler, Al Dugoff and a host of others.

Expected to augment the Colonial squad are several local all-high selections, who have chosen to attend the University.

Colonials Trampled By State After Sparkling Win Over W & L

Five Seniors Play Final Game; Eight Look to 1947-48

• WITH THEIR first full year of basketball since the war's end behind them, the remnants of a 1946-47 Colonial basketball team looked ahead to next year, after racking up one of their best records in history.

Playing their last game in a Buff and Blue uniform last Friday night were Edsel Gustafson, Jimmy Rausch, Don McNary, Bob Jackson and Barry Kreisberg. All five were seniors, and with the exception of Kreisberg, all played major roles in copping the Southern Conference Championship in 1943. Rausch served as captain of the Colonials this year, while Gustafson won acclaim as one of the greatest linemen ever to play football at the University, in addition to his ability as a basketball player.

The eight men left over, Bill Cantwell, Phil McNiff, Len Small, Dave Shapiro, Art Cerra, Maynard Halthcock, Howie Hoffman, and Bunny Citrenbaum will have no easy road ahead in the coming season.

The season ahead will find the Colonials undertaking one of the most ambitious seasons ever attempted. Included in next year's schedule will be Seton Hall, Navy, Army, Duke, Georgetown, North Carolina, South Carolina, N. C. State, and either St. John's of Brooklyn, CCNY, or LIU at Madison Square Garden.

BILL CANTWELL

• ONLY Colonial basketballer to win honors in this year's Southern Conference tournament was Bill Cantwell. Cantwell was chosen on the second team of the All-Southern Conference selections of the Durham Sun and sportswriters of afternoon papers.

OQUASSA, Girls' Swimming Club, Will Perform

• "OQUASSA," newly-named girls' swimming club of the University, is busy preparing for its spring "Acquade," to be held April 30 at the YWCA.

The Club, which meets every Tuesday afternoon at the YWCA pool, specializes in ballet and aqua-dance pattern swimming, including diving, star designs, and diamond floats. Present plans call for the starring of a noted swimmer to spice the lavish entertainments being planned.

Red Terrors' Red Hot Offense Cools University Cagers

• PICKED AS the team to beat after a smashing 70-55 victory over Washington and Lee Thursday, the University's Colonials fell apart at the seams the following night and succumbed to North Carolina State's Red Terrors 70-47 in the semi-finals of the Twenty-Sixth Annual Southern Conference Basketball Tournament at Durham, North Carolina. State went on to take the championship, defeating North Carolina in the finals 50-48.

Hailed as the "dark horses" in this year's tournament from the moment they arrived, the Buff cagers amply bore it out in their opening game as they ran roughshod over the Generals of W&L. With every man on the squad scoring, the G.W. courtmen were unstoppable, scoring almost at will.

But on Friday night, the Colonials found themselves the victims of a very "cold" night. Only the weather outside Duke University's stadium was cooler than the University hoopmen, as State's talented freshman team took advantage of their opponent's inaptitude to throw point after point into the basket.

On more than even terms with the Red Terrors for the first ten minutes of the game, the Colonials suddenly found themselves unable to hit the basket from anywhere. Led by Dick Dickey, Al Negley, Ed Bartels, and Leo Katkaveck, State piled up a 40-24 lead at the half-time, increasing it to 64-38 later in the game. From there on in, they let up and coasted in to the victory.

The only basketballers to play with any degree of consistency for the Colonials throughout the tournament were Bill Cantwell, Ed Gustafson, and Barry Kreisberg.

Intramural Title Tilt Friday

Eight Teams Vie For All-University Laurels in Playoff

• FRIDAY NIGHT at 9:30 p. m. the culmination of the greatest playoff series in University intramural history will be staged in the University gymnasium.

University champions this year will have overtaken a field of forty-four teams, which encompassed nearly a thousand students.

The competing teams in the all-University game are yet to be selected through the elimination play-off that has been in progress since last Friday, but the champion will be crowned Friday night.

Tonight in the gym at 8:00 p. m. the Sigma Chi outfit will attempt to waylay the formidable Sigma Nu courtmen. Followers expect the tilt to be the hardest-fought contest this season with both clubs anxious to meet the highly-touted, undefeated Theta Delta Chi five for fraternity honors Wednesday at 8:00 p. m.

In their last meeting the Sigma Nu's set back the Sigs 25-12. At that time the Sigma Chi's were suffering from the loss of Tom Riky, injured star. But Johnny Nuttman, who throughout the season has failed to score consistently, has proved himself very valuable, netting thirteen points as high scorer in the Sigma Chi's first playoff game, which they won from the Kappa Sigma five 30-22. In addition, his brilliant floor game and aggressiveness under the basket played a great part in the victory.

Pete Labukas' Theta Delta Chi five scored a decisive 40-14 win over the Sigma Alpha Epsilon squad in the only other play-off game scheduled last weekend.

Last night the Lafayette A. C. met Bradley Hall while the Milkmen were pitted against the Pillow Tenders in the first contests of the independent league second round play-off. The two winners in those games will meet tonight after the Sigma Chi-Sigma Nu tilt for the second-round honors.

Thursday at 8:30 p. m. the winners in the second-round play-off will meet the Blanchard Boys, first round winners, for the independent crown and the right to play the fraternity champs for the all-University title.

University Club Meets Hoyas In Tourney

• SATURDAY afternoon at 2:00 p. m. the G.W. intramural basketball champs will meet the Georgetown University Foreign Service School five in the Extramural Invitation Tournament being held at the American University gymnasium.

The tournament, under the direction of "Dutch" Shultz, former American University basketball ace, and sponsored by his late Alma Mater, will run off the finals Saturday night 8:00 p. m. with the winner of the G.W.-Georgetown tilt meeting the winner of the American University-Maryland University game.

The intramural club meeting the Hilltop squad must survive the playoff series this week and win the All-University game slated for Friday night.

Registration Open For Volleyball

• STUDENTS WHO are interested in playing volleyball are urged to register at the intramural office where other groups are seeking additional players.

Joe Krupa announced that the interfraternity volleyball schedule has been mailed to all fraternities and will enable those organizations to get their competition underway.

Ping Pong Tournament Set by Krupa

• THE INTRAMURAL department announced yesterday that the qualification round of the coming table tennis tournament will be held in the University gymnasium Friday at 7:00 p. m.

Opponents will be matched at the gym and the event will be concluded on a single elimination basis. It must be noted that all entrants are required to wear gym shoes.

Joe Krupa, Director of Intramural Novelties, stated that this has been the largest ping pong tournament at this university with more than ninety contestants. Students still desiring to enter the competition may do so if they register at the intramural office before noon Thursday.

For the qualifying night, seven tables will be set up in the gymnasium and candidates will be run through the weeding-out process as quickly as they can be matched.

AA registrants who are unable to participate in the Thursday night qualifying round will be allowed to participate in the qualifying meet that will be held next Tuesday night at 8:00 p. m.
